

Characteristics of flocculation treatment for wastewater in paper industry

배영한^{1,2}, 김형준², 이덕현², 이성식^{2,*}

¹이양화학(주) 환경기술연구소; ²동아대학교 화학공학과
(sslee@daunet.donga.ac.kr*)

As the demand of paper is increased and the kind of that is various, it is very difficult to efficiently treat by constant treatment.

In general cases, the properties of wastewater depend on the kinds of paper. Therefore, the flocculation mechanism is complicated by a additional chemical for paper-making.

In this study, we estimated the interrelationship of flocculant and paper wastewater on the kind of paper in paper-making process.